

Gastown Revival

Follow a group of idealistic Vancouver restaurant owners, lead by Mark Brand and his wife Nico, on their quest to make an impact on the neighbourhood known as “Canada’s poorest postal code”: Vancouver’s downtown east side.

By re-opening the neighbourhood icon, a butcher shop known as Save On Meats, they hope to provide opportunities to the unemployed and disadvantaged members of the community, and inspiration to others. It would be a huge undertaking for someone who has experience revitalizing a downtrodden community, but for Mark, Nico and the gang, it may be more than they can handle.
